PLAN ART EXHIBIT FOR CLUB MEETING

Art League Arranges for Collection to be Shown During Session of District Federation.

A special treat is being arranged by the Art League for the pleasure of the District Federation of Women's Clubs which meets in Janesville on April 24, 25. During that week a fine collection of the works of the Milwaukee Art League will be shown in the library hall. This exhibit has been shown recently in Milwaukee and it was through the interest of Audrey Grant Watson, secretary of the Milwaukee Art League, that it will be brought to Janesville. The public are cordially invited to inspect this collection of pictures which will be shown on Monday and Tuesday evenings. More details concerning the artists and the exhibition will be in possession of the pictures committee later.

A very full program was given at the meeting of the Art League at the library on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Reynolds gave an interesting account of the art of Seattle whose art institute captured Seattle quarters, but had seven rooms filled with specimens of art and pictures. They had a wonderful collection of Indian curios and specimens of Indian work. Totem poles are found in many of the public squares and the City Federation of Women's Clubs, consisting of thirty-three clubs hold many public exhibitions of art.

Mrs. Saunders gave a resume of the civic art of Seattle which she said was of 1899 in parks and fifty miles in a boulevard system. Many permanent buildings of the exposition remain as part of the equipment of the state capital. There were a large number of statues and fountains to be found in the public squares and the stadium built in Tacoma things the tendency of the art world to go on a large scale. The art of Portland both in regard to civics and art work was given in a comprehensive paper by Mrs. Faust.

She also of Portland as being the financial center of the northwest, the largest lumber port in the world and has the largest export of wheat of any place in the United States. But it has placed an interest in art and has had an art association for over twenty years. Last year over a hundred public exhibits of art were held in the city.

There is a woman who lectures to the school children on art and conducts them on tours of the pictures, explaining their meaning. She held the art festival exhibitions in the city and has a large and well endowed and much interest is taken by the city in the work.

The private collections of pictures at Omaha were described by Mrs. Fildes and she also mentioned the beautiful new Court House with its marvelous mural paintings recently completed.

A public art of Salt Lake was described by Mrs. J. Nuzum who mentioned the temple, the tabernacle, the theatre and other public buildings of the city.

Mrs. Helms gave an account of the early isolation of Utah and how the early Mormons had been obliged to develop their own artistic ability. But the decoration of their buildings, the early temple, had won honors at Paris and other art centers. A list of these artists, beginning with Mahogany, who designed and built the monument, and ending with the artist who modeled the angel which tops the tallest spire of the temple, was given.

Announcement was made of the art exhibition to be held in the library the week beginning the 23rd of April in charge of the following committee: Mesdames Fenner, Hart, Fox and Miss Cobb. The annual meeting of the league was postponed from May 11 to May 18 and it was announced that all clubs and of the city could be accommodated at the dinner furnished for the 24th of April at 6 o'clock at the Methodist Church if reservation of tickets were made to Mrs. J. Nuzum who has the matter in charge.

FAIR BOARD OFFERS ATTRACTIVE PRIZES

Nearly $200 in Cash Premiums are Offered for Exhibits by Pupils of Rural Schools.

An attractive list of prizes amounting to nearly $200 has been prepared by the fair management for the rural school exhibit which is classified as Department J, copies of which has been sent by Superintendent Antisdel, who is in charge of this branch, to every rural school district of the county. Cash premiums are offered for about seventy-five possible exhibits in five different lines: agricultural, domestic economy, agriculture, fine arts and primary. First prizes of one dollar are to be awarded, second prizes of 75c and third prizes of 50c. With such prizes it is probable that the rural schools will be represented by a big display. Superintendent Antisdel is starting his campaign for exhibits early so that the pupils and teachers may get an early start. FIRST DRILL FOR NEW MEN TONIGHT; 104 ENLISTED NOW

Rookies to be Put Through First Drills at Armory This Evening—Big Public Drill Tuesday Night.

Between forty and fifty new recruits will assemble at the armory of the Second Separate Company this evening for their first drill. Though a few of these men have had some military experience, most of the men are new to the game and will receive their preliminary instructions in the school of the soldier. The "rookies" will drill regularly every Monday and Thursday evenings.

Tomorrow night as usual, the old men will drill either in the armory or on the streets if the weather permits. It has been remarked that while the new men are cordially invited to attend the Tuesday and Friday drills, the presence of a gallery may be considered a nuisance. Equipment on hand to outfit sixty-eight men, though Captain Caldwell has made requisitions on the state department for clothing and equipment for a full complement of 105 men. The size of the armory would make it difficult to drill more than are comprised in the rolls of the old men, and the City Federation of Women's Clubs could drill on different nights. This method will make it possible for the officers to devote more care to the early training of the new recruits.

Though Sunday is a holiday for the recruiting squad, the enlistment of Joe Gillespie of this city was secured last night. The enlistment is due to bringing the total of the squad up to 104. A short list of the total authorized strength. More men are needed, however, and needed quickly. The success of the recruiting for the new men is due to a large degree to the policy of the government regarding the drafting of men for service. It has been pointed out that there will be no discrimination in this conscription; it is up to the young men to enlist and enlist now.

Service in the National Guard is argued to be more desirable for many reasons in that they can return to their home stations immediately after the close of the war. While fighting in the regular service, they are not required to leave their families. The men given Camp Douglas when the men are sworn into the service of the United States are far more rigorous than those made for the local company, and there will be at least twenty men dropped at that time. Enlist now.

Appropos of the success of the enlistment to the National Guard throughout the state, Gen. Holway has expressed himself as exceedingly pleased with the progress, and with the prospects of recruiting the guard up to 16,000 men, the number asked of this state.

While a large number of letters were written Saturday afternoon by Chief of Police P. D. Champion to addresses found on the person of the dead man, the man who dropped dead on West Milwaukee street, in the hopes of locating relatives, a telegram from the Continental, O., chief of police, M. Q. Pease, says that Ingerson's father is dead and that he has no relatives living.

Working on the clew of the Milwaukee road baggage check, found in the man's pockets, his grips were located at Whitecourt. They were forwarded here and in them was much correspondence prior to May, 1916, but none later.

A telegram was dispatched to Detroit, address and name was received that Ingerson had a father and owned property at Continental, O. The police today planned to have a photograph taken of the man for identification purposes. It has not yet been determined whether to bury the man here or await for further information expected to be received when answers come to the letters which Chief Champion wrote.

Ingerson's effects showed him to be a transient handy-man and a follower of circuses and carnivals. His last work appeared to be an agent for a glue, for the repair of china and crockery. He also sold medicine and patent novelties.

The Janesville Moose chapter investigated and found that he was a member of their order. It was thought that he was, as a card bearing his name, also carried a Moose insignia.

Ingerson has a son somewhere in the west, from his papers. His wife at Detroit, in 1909, secured divorce on desertion charges. He carried the summons and also a newspaper clipping regarding the proceedings.

Only a few cents were found on his person. Friday night he registered at the European hotel.

TURTLE CREEK VICTIM WAS CAPRON, ILL. MAN

Fell on Rocky Embankment Near Railway Tracks and Was Killed—Is Belief of District Attorney.

The body of the man found in Turtle Creek in Beloit Saturday morning was identified that evening at Joseph Everts of Capron, Ill. A murder theory held at noon was blasted with further investigation and this morning District Attorney Stanley G. Dunaway said that the determination had been reached that Everts either fell from a train or was knocked into the river by one at the point where he was found. A railway bridge crossed the stream but a few feet from where the body was found in about eighteen inches of water. Banking it on either side is a rough slope of large ragged stones.

A cut on the forehead showed that the man had hit heavily on the rocks and that he had evidently been killed instantly by a bullet which had entered the body at first in the lungs the case was at first figured as another murder mystery.

Everts was a working man. His body was taken to Capron for the moment.

CLAIM 'DUMMY' STOLE 15 ONE DOLLAR BILLS

Sullivan the Mute Again in Court. This Time on Allegation He Went Through Waitress' Purse.

James "Dummy" Sullivan was arrested yesterday and arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge from the person charge, the case arising from the theft in the Schmidt cafe of fifteen one dollar bills from a purse belonging to Mrs. W. H. McFarland, a waitress. The police claim the money was discovered in the dumb man's pocketing after they had searched his clothing and almost stripped him in the belief that he was the guilty party.

Sullivan demanded an examination this morning and went to jail under three hundred dollars' bail to await trial Saturday morning. The penalty for the crime is from one to seven years.

Yesterday noon the prisoner ate at Schmid's cafe and was seen to fumble amongst papers and linenware on the top of the safe. Mrs. McFarland's purse was beneath these. After Sullivan left the money was missed.

CHILDREN RESPOND TO CALL TO PLANT VEGETABLE GARDENS

Club Women Dispose of 5,000 Penny Packages in a Week's Time—
Find Unexpected Demand.

It would seem that every child in Janesville was going to the garden if one could judge by the excitement with which the penny packages of seeds have been purchased during the last week. The ladies comprising the committee from the city organization having the matter in charge, Miss Mary Mout, Mrs. Stanley Smith, Mrs. Francis Grant, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Horace Blackman, and the most strenuous period of work they have found it to be.

They had prepared, as they supposed, an ample stock of over 5,000 packages of seeds divided into six kinds of vegetables and the same number of flower seeds, and made a special visit to each school building, so that the children could purchase them. The younger generation has apparently caught the spirit of the times to "grow things," because the committee was nearly swamped with orders. The orders were filled in two or three days and the committee was obliged to requisition more material and sit up nights replenishing their supplies. It is astonishing on the subject as to just what variety of seeds they want and why. Small boys who perhaps have been pointed on fresh vegetables this winter, have been heard sagely discussing the virtues of carrots or beets as a food product, and little daughters who wanted pink for their garden, cannot be persuaded to take marigolds or balsams as a substitute when the stock of pinks has been low.

Saturday was the last day of the sale and was held at the library, when the committee, to their great relief, finished off the business for this season. Over two thousand packages have been put up and most of them have meant a lot of hard work done by this committee in preparing the packages and selling them to the children, but it is one of the things in life that is very worth while and counts greatly in the years to come in the artistic development of citizenship. The children have been taught by this means that the city club women take an interest in their welfare and wish to assist them in the useful and beautiful art of gardening.

There were between fifty and seventy-five persons present at the meeting and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. MILWAUKEE MAN INVENTS LAND, WATER AND AIR BOAT

Milwaukee, April 16.—Getting over the ground, water, or through the air will be accomplished with ease and in the same vehicle through the invention of Alexander O. Tesch of Milwaukee. Tesch is now completing his model which has already been in operation. The carriage is beet-shaped with wheels protruding from the sides to provide motion when on land. There are folding wings which are extended as an aeroplane. The same propellers are used to provide motive power on land, water or in the air.

The lines on the hands are not caused by folding, but by the action of the brain. This is proved by the fact that paralysis removes the lines from the hands.

READY TO ACT.

Necessary for the planting of increased acreage of spring wheat due to the shortage in the great western cereal fields, found quick response in local country and if every other country in the great state of Wisconsin follows the example set, the total loss to the grain supply of the country will be materially diminished. Considerable acreage is being planted in wheat, and the raising of an array of many million men, can contract for munitions of war and prepare for actual service, but it remains for the farmers of this nation to furnish the food supply and they are responding nobly to the demand.

(Oliver Goldsmith once wrote:

"All eyes the hand to hastening ill
 Where wealth accumulates and men decay.
 Princes and Lords may flourish or may fade,
 But a bold peasantry, their country's pride,
 When once destroyed can never be supplied."

It would appear as though the poet had looked into the future and actually witnessed the destruction of the great working class of Europe. The farmers, the artisans, by this war, their fields devastated, their homes blackened ruins, the men of the nations fighting and living like wild beasts. The wealth of ages being poured forth in a golden stream as a sacrifice to the great god of war.

Here in America—democratic America—the greatest battle of all will be fought. We must conquer nature and bring forth more food supplies to aid our suffering brothers across the water. We must feed our own people, we must, if possible, reduce the cost of living, and the only way to do this is for each agriculturalist to do his share. Raise more cereals, raise more cattle and plant crops of necessity.

The response has been most liberal.
 It is hoped more will fall in line.
 This is a time when all must do their own individual part in the great struggle. There at home we can attack the progress enemy of all—starvation—
 from the rear and not the front, no more less strongly entrenched, by concerted action. Not only can the farmers play their part, but city dwellers, too, as well, by planting gardens for their own use and by contributing land for others to plant gardens.

There is work for everyone—the soldier, the sailor, the manufacturer, the banker, the professional man, the farmer and the worker. Enlist for war by all means, whether it be in the armed forces of the nation, or in the greater army of toilers to supply the fighting line and aid the sufferers
 in Europe.

SUFFRAGE.

It is a possibility that the voters of Wisconsin will have to vote on the question of equal suffrage for women at the next general election. The senate has passed favorably on the bill and it is now up to the lower house to take action. In this connection it would be interesting to note what the Congressionalists say as regards suffrage in European countries at the present time.

"The Russian republic has made a long stride ahead of the United States in radical measures by admitting all its citizens to the ballot, but Great Britain, which is really one of the democratic countries, is not far behind, the House of Commons having adopted by a monumental majority a declaration favoring the immediate passing of an act which would give universal suffrage without distinction of sex. These two measures in hands of the senate are likely to accelerate the movement for equal suffrage in all the states of this United States of America."

BILLIONS FOR DEFENSE.

Instead of millions for defense and not one cent for tribute, as in the days of the early struggles of this republic, congress on Saturday voted seven billions. It must be a striking picture to the European nations who believed that the United States would sit back quietly, permit its ships to be sunk, its citizens killed and its world disregarded. This action of congress is the handwriting on the wall and should be heeded by those who are in power. Unfortunately, while our war is with the Imperial government of Germany, not with the people, the citizens of the Empire will not know the truth or real facts of the whole situation until the struggle is actually over. If they did they might also in their might, tear from their exalted places those in power who have led them into this conflict under false promises and mistaken ideals, and like Russia, proclaim themselves a republic. It would end the struggle of ages and the dove of peace would have an opportunity of finding a resting place on the very cannon's mouth.

THE PARK IDEA.

The proposition to create a park on the side of the Rock river between Milwaukee and Court streets has wonderful possibilities. One has but to view Madison or Rockford and see what has been accomplished there in public recreation places, beauty spots that enhance the city. Now is the time to start such projects, not ten years from now, when it would be impossible to purchase the land desired and the outlay is not sufficiently great to prove a barrier to the idea.
 It is well worth considering and it is to be hoped that it will not be passed off hurriedly. Of course there will be opposition. That is always to be expected. The very persons who object are usually the ones who claim Janesville is slipping and point to what neighboring cities have done for their citizens in the way of recreation places, but refuse to do their share

beer at home to make the city bigger and better.

Governor Philipp's recommendation
 as to the preparation the non-fighting element of the state of Wisconsin can accomplish by concerted action is full of possibilities and the people appear to fully understand the confidence the governor has in them to do their part as individuals.

The Daily Novelette

THE MAGNET.

It was a dull day in the Bureau of City Disturbances. Chief Wazle
 yawned twice and scratched his chin.
 Then he scratched his chin twice and yawned. Then he yawned once and a half and scratched his chin once and a half, and at that moment the telephone bell rang.
 "Ah," said the chief, relievedly.
 "Maybe it's a riot or something."
 "Chief of the bureau of city disturbances?" asked a brisk voice at the other end of the wire.
 "Hm," replied Chief Wazle.
 "Well, can you tell me whether a horse has happened to fall on any of the city streets during the past few minutes, and if so, where?"
 "Corner Zed and Bing streets, twelve minutes ago," said the chief,
 after consulting a ledger marked
 "Horses down." ***

COLONIAL TROOPERS IN STRANGE MURDER

Billancourt, Department of the Seine, France, April 16.—Seven Annamites of the colonial corps stationed here have just been sentenced to penalties ranging from a year's imprisonment to death for taking the life of Nguyen van Lock, one of their comrades, in Indo-Chinese fashion.

Van Lock, the only Annamite soldier here who spoke French, was unpopular with his compatriots who accused him of brutality, cheating at cards, and usury; he lent them small sums at 100 per cent interest, they claimed.

Seven Annamite conspirators approached him secretly one night.
 Four of them seized him by the legs and arms and held him while another chosen for the execution seized him by the throat and strangled him to death. All seven then gave vent to exultant joy, each one in turn approaching the victim and simulating
 the act of strangling him.

Ninety-three Annamite soldiers were in the barracks ward where this assassination was committed but not one of them would reveal it. It was only the finger marks upon the victim's throat that gave the surgeons traces of the crime.

A Real Employee.

"Do you see that young fellow over there?" said the manager of the factory. "He's made up his mind that some day he is going to get my job away from me."

"Is that so? I shouldn't think you'd keep him around here then."
 "Great Scott, man! I'd be mighty lucky if every fellow in this plant had the same idea."—Detroit Free Press.

ARMED NEUTRALITY COSTS SWISS MUCH

Berne, Switzerland, April 16.—
 Switzerland's extraordinary expenses that have grown out of the war will amount, by the end of the year, to about 700,000,000 francs. It is estimated. That figure, however, covers only the cost of maintaining Swiss neutrality—guarding the boundaries, etc. There must be raised in addition from 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 francs annually to pay the interest on other debts. In all it is reckoned that for interest charges and sinking funds the state is going to have to produce an even 100,000,000 francs income above what it ordinarily raises.

Thus far only about one-third of this sum has been assured. The tobacco monopoly proposed by the Bundesrat is but one of a number of measures that will be necessary in the immediate future. And the monopoly proposition is already meeting with strong opposition.

Though Berne has the reputation of being a less expensive residence city than Zurich or Geneva, it has been hit very hard by the war. The cost of food has risen on the average 48.9 per cent above the figures that prevailed before the war. Clothing and other commodities probably have exceeded this figure. The figures have been compiled and published to show how urgently necessary advances in salary are for government officials.

SMOKING A CIGAR CAUSES EXPOSURE

Janesville, April 15.—A young American who said he was a student in Munich and that he was caught by the war without sufficient funds, appeared at one of the American consulates in Switzerland soon after the beginning of the war and asked for any kind of work that would enable him to save money to get home.

He was hired and proved capable, energetic and honest. He was known as "Johnston." The consul, a genial, generous man, was in the habit of handing out to his clerks and assistants as many strong cigars as they would take each day. "Johnston," though he made a very bad cigar, always accepted—and smoked—the cigars. Eventually, however, he admitted to a friend in the consulate that he had accepted them because he believed he would gain favor with the chief in that way, but that they made him ill. He was sent to a hospital and there the inevitable revelation came. "Johnston" in reality was a New York woman who, while in Munich, had donned men's clothes to cross the German frontier. She returned to the consulate but, once after having recovered from the chief's strong cigars and then only to resign. Somehow, without a passport she got into Italy and obtained passage to America on a steamer sailing from Genoa.

WHATCHAMA COLUMN.

Feather dusters. Heaven is a man's idea of life after death. The feather duster is a turkey's idea of life after Thanksgiving.

There has always been something pathetic about it to us. Particularly in that bluish and melancholy period after we have given a little thanks and taken too many helpings. We always think:

"Well, the buck is dead and gone; the gobbling, as you might say, is over; but his soul and his feathers go marching on." It sort of fills us with sadness.

But the feather duster, like a good many old established institutions, is passing. Parental mops and extra efficient rags of some sort and another are pushing it off the ash can. Dust is being clipped down and obliterated without warning.

But the duster in its day did woman service. Long may it wave.

COMMISSION REDRAWING MAP TO AVOID GERMANY

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
Janesville, April 15.—Allied railroad commissions today are preparing to redraw Europe's railroad map. They are already planning the reconstruction of the allied dependence on the German lines in the "war after the war." For example, a proposed railroad connects Bordeaux with Odessa, avoiding middle Europe and passing through Turkey and the Italian-to-Tripoli. Other lines, perfecting the development of allied territory, are also in prospect.

French and English railroad officials are now in Italy studying the situation with allied officials. The commissions are making a careful tour of investigation throughout the allied countries. It is said, and work on the contemplated lines will be rushed to completion as soon as the war ends.

WISCONSIN TO TRY OUT DAYLIGHT SAVING PLAN

Milwaukee, Wis., April 15.—Many Wisconsin cities have become interested in the move to introduce the daylight saving plan which recently started in Green Bay. It is urged that clocks be set forward an hour beginning May 1, and set back again Sept. 1. The plan would give an extra hour of daylight each day, promoters say. The move must be carried to the attention of the commercial association. It contemplates affecting all cities in the Fox river valley.

BELOIT WOODMEN LODGE TO HAVE LODGE DUES PAID

Beloit, Wis., April 15.—Those members of Beloit camp of M. W. of A. 448, who are in naval or army service, have their dues paid by the "brothers back home." New recruits must also have their dues and assessments paid.

SHIP PROGRAM BIG ENGLISH PROBLEM

London, April 15.—Speaking in the house of commons on the government's shipbuilding program, the parliamentary secretary of the shipping controller, said the program of construction was a very big one and could be carried out best by standardization. Tramp steamers were wanted most at the present time but they must be something more than the ordinary tramp and exceed in speed the ordinary tramp speed of the submarine. About one-half of all the merchant ships of the United Kingdom of over 2,000 tons were engaged for the army and navy, the colonies and the Entente Allies in connection with the war.

The shipping controller, the secretary said, was rapidly extending the requisitioning to include all steamers in the possession of the country. Regarding the restrictions of imports and the question of conserving shipping, he said the government was mapping out the future not only for this year but for next. They were measuring the greatest possible losses they thought would occur and putting against them month by month what they expected to build and to buy—and, by dealing with the matter in that way, could make arrangements to defeat the enemy in the campaign to destroy shipping.

GERMANY HARD HIT BY COST OF LIVING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Copenhagen, via London, April 15.—The investigation into the war cost of living in Germany—which was conducted in April, 1916, details of which are now published, show the cost of bare necessities of life for families in the lowest wage classes materially exceeding their income. This class includes families earning from 100 to 200 marks monthly and their living expenses at 222 marks 5 pfennigs.

The deficit, the report remarks, has been covered by either drawing on savings or running into debt. Prices have steadily gone upward in the ensuing year increasing the impossibility of poor people classes, which includes persons ranked as the educated middle classes, to make ends meet without public assistance.

BEAVER DAM CITIZENS TO HAVE LODGE DUES PAID.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

"Who Killed Mr. Balfame?" is the climax of the story of "Mrs. Balfame," in which Nance O'Neil is starred. The only proof of the real culprit is a moonlight shadow of an elongated figure, revolver in hand, in the shade of a tree. Mrs. Balfame sees (this shadow from her window and grasping her revolver runs out to frighten away the intruder.

Two bullets were found, one of 36-caliber and another of 42-caliber. One was taken from the body of David Balfame, the other found imbedded in a tree. Whose shot killed Mr. Balfame?

Nance O'Neil has, in "Mrs. Balfame," just the sort of highly emotional role to portray her splendid reputation on the stage. The mystery which surrounds her actions, many of which are carried out in a half light, her tense emotion and her crushing horror of the brutality of her husband, coupled with her growing determination to kill him, make thrilling and gripping scenes.

NO SCREEN IDOLS IN JAPAN
Japan is making its own motion pictures now. Previously the mikado's exhibitors relied almost solely on the American output. However, the odds are tremendously against Japan's ever developing a Mary Pickford, Clara Kimball Young or Irene Castle. All parts in Japanese movies—as well as plays—are played by members of the sterner sex. Downright discrimination, we say.

Those who are patriotic will have the spirit of 1776 revived for them in "A Daughter of the War," wherein May Ward plays a daughter of the Revolution, object of the affections of a Hessian officer and a Colonial lieutenant. The Hessian makes his final exit over a cliff.

Viola Dana was asked to sneeze in "Lary Barnacle." She couldn't until some powder was brought from a drug store. Then the director got his sneeze and the company got a vacation for the afternoon while the studio was aired out.

Mabel Taliaferro has returned to the stage to star in Hall Caine's play, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me." But she will be back in the movies soon.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

YOUR HOUSE IS ON FIRE—
IF YOU DON'T AGREE
TO PAINT IT WE SHALL HAVE TO LET IT BURN

LET HER BURN.

Firemen, we are told confidentially
by a friend who knows one personally, are instructed to save everything that catches fire. They are instructed to be indiscriminate about what they save.

The result is they save a great many poor buildings.

They save a great many buildings that need a good, thorough, unmolested burning.

Now if cities will pay some attention to us, and we are afraid they won't, (and, they can go ahead to the dogs if they want to,) we will give them an idea. This idea is great.

Cities can use it without writing for our permission.

Every city should have a "Let Her Burn" map. All the buildings in town which ought to be let alone when they start to burn down should be marked with a little red dot, or,
as far as we are concerned, with a little blue dot. One of these maps could be tacked on every fire engine.

And that a "Let Her Burn" building is burning, the chief can instruct his men to use the kerosene squitter instead of the regular chemicals, and he can go around, himself, to the owner of the building and, if he has no insurance, give him enough money to cover the loss, and the next day excavations can be started on the spot for a beautiful new skyscraper, twenty, or possibly thirty, stories high.

In this way, a city can soon get a lot of beautiful, big, modern skyscrapers.

AN OPERATION AVERTED

Philadelphia, Pa.—“One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind to let my husband to the drug store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I soon noticed a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and an only one to let other women know of my cure.” Mrs. T. M. McGONIGAL, 3422 Locust St., Phila., Pa.

What to Do for Eczema

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied to good clear skin. Instead, from any drug store for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size, get a bottle of Zemo. When applied as directed, it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive, penetrating, antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying. The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a dark brown taste, a bad breath, a dull, listless, “no good” feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Let Resinol Make Your Sick Skin Well

That itching, burning skin can almost certainly be healed. The first use of Resinol ointment seldom fails to give instant relief. With the help of Resinol, this soothing, healing ointment usually clears away all trace of eczema, ringworm, rash or similar tormenting, sleep-preventing skin diseases quickly and at little cost. Physicians have prescribed Resinol ointment regularly for over twenty years, so you need not hesitate to use it freely. Sold by all druggists.

Is Your Toilet Soap Injuring Your Skin?

Many toilet soaps contain harsh, injurious alkali. Resinol soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and to it is added the Resinol medication. This gives it soothing, healing properties which clear the complexion, comfort tender skin and keep the hair healthy.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it helped. You can now get the relief and help that mustard plaster gives, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

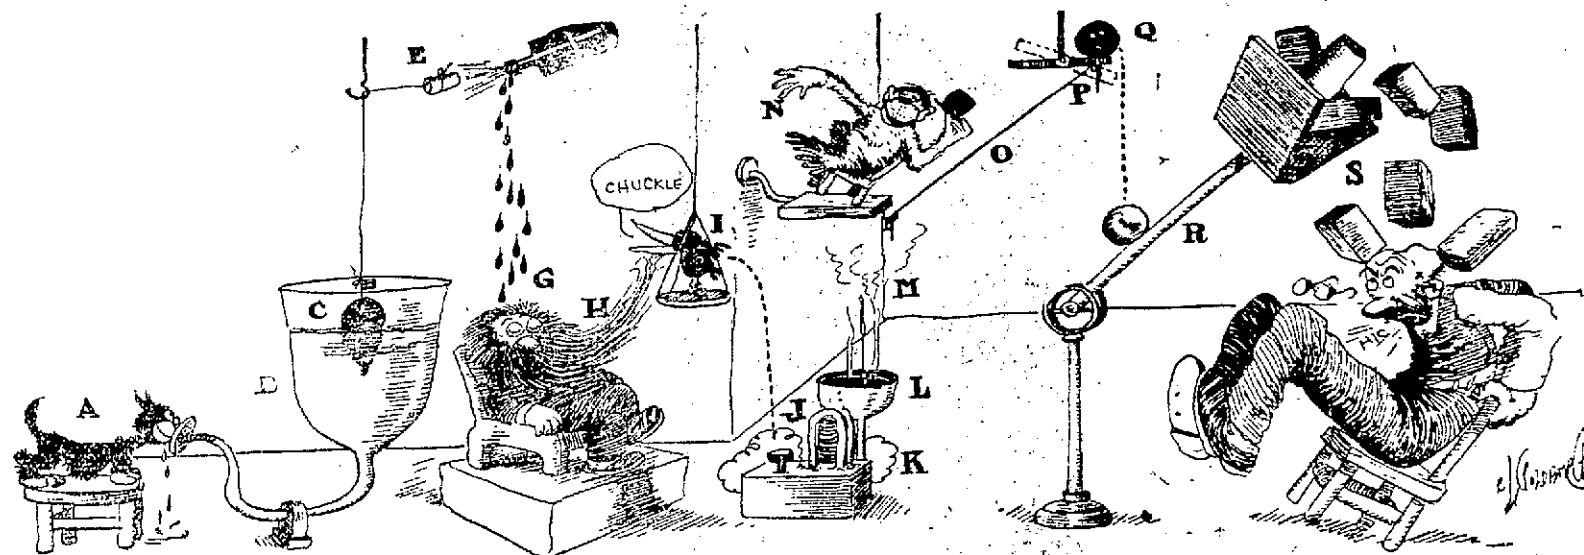

Just massage Musterole in with the finger tips gently. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frostbitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

A ROMANCE OF
THE LEWIS AND CLARK
EXPEDITION

By Emerson Hough,

"Simply this—you must have Captain Lewis with us and not against us. Money was raised twenty years ago in London to make this same sort of journey across the continent, but the plan fell through. Revive it now, and we English still may pull it off. But it will be too late if Captain Lewis goes forward now—too late for us—too late for you and your plan, Mr. Burr. I want that man! We must have him with us!" Burr sat in silence for a time.

"You open up a singular train of thought for me, your excellency," said he at length. "He does belong with us, that young Virginian."

"You know him, then?" inquired the British minister. "That is to say, you know him well?"

"Perfectly. Why should I not? Give me two weeks more, and he might have been—he got the news of my daughter's marriage just too late. It hit him hard. Now, you ask me how to get that man, your excellency. There is perhaps one way in which it could be accomplished, and only one."

"How then?" inquired Merry.

"The way of a woman with a man may always be the answer in matters of that sort," said Aaron Burr.

"The three sat and looked each at the other for some time without comment."

"And Colonel Burr's brain active in all ways," began Senator Yrujo dryly. "Now I confess that he goes somewhat in advance of mine."

"Listen," said Aaron Burr. "What Mr. Jefferson said of Captain Lewis is absolutely true—his will has never been known to relax or weaken."

"Then even the unusual weapon you suggest might not avail!" Mr. Merry's smile was not altogether pleasant.

"Women would listen to him readily, I think," remarked Yrujo.

"Gallant in his way, yes," said Burr. "Then what do you mean by saying something about the way of a woman with a man?"

"Only that it is the last remaining opportunity for us," rejoined Aaron Burr. "The appeal to his senses—of course we will set that aside. The appeal to his chivalry—that is better. The appeal to his ambition—that is less, but might be used. The appeal to his sympathy—the wish to be generous with the woman who has not been generous with him, for the reason that she could not be—here again you have another argument which we may claim as possible."

"You reason well," said Merry. "But while men are mortal, your excellency, if I mistake not, is a gentleman."

"Precisely," said Burr. "If we ask him to resign his expedition we are asking him to alter all his loyalty to his chief, and he will not do that. Any appeal made to him must be to his honor or to his chivalry; otherwise it were worse than hopeless. He would no more be disloyal to my son-in-law, the lady's husband—in case it came to that—than he would be disloyal to the orders of his chief."

"Fie, fie!" said Yrujo, serving himself with wine from a decanter on the table. "All men are mortal. I agree with your first proposition, Colonel Burr, that the safest argument with a man—with a young man especially, and such a man—is a woman, and such a woman."

"One thing is sure," rejoined Burr, flushing. "That man will succeed unless some woman induces him to change—some woman acting under an appeal to his chivalry or his sense of justice. His reasons must be honest to him. They must be honest to her alike."

Burr added this last virtuously, and Mr. Merry bowed deeply in return.

"That is not only honorable of you, Colonel Burr, but logical."

"That means some sort of sacrifice for him," suggested Yrujo presently.

"But some one is sacrificed in every great undertaking. We cannot count the loss of men when nations seek to extend their boundaries and enhance their power. Only the question is, At what sacrifice, through what appeal to his chivalry, can his assistance be carried to us?"

CHAPTER VIII. The Way of a Woman.

"We have left out of our accounting one factor," said Burr after a time.

"What, then?"

"One factor, I repeat, we have overlooked," said Burr. "That is to say, as of a woman. I am purposing to send as our agent with him no other than my daughter, Mrs. Alston. There is no mind more brilliant, no heart more loyal, than hers nor any soul more filled with ambition. She believes in her father absolutely—will use every resource of her own to uphold her father's ambitions. Now, women have their own ways of accomplishing results. Suppose we leave it to my daughter to fashion her own campaign? There is nothing wrong in the relations of these two, but at table today I saw his look to her and hers to him in reply. We are speaking in deep and sacred confidence here, gentlemen. So I say to you, ask no questions of me and let me ask none of her. Let me only say to her, 'My daughter, your father's success, his life, his fortune, the life and fortune and success of your husband as well, depend upon one event, depend upon you and your ability to stop yonder expedition of Captain Meriwether Lewis into the Mississippi country.'"

"When could we learn?" demanded the British minister.

"I cannot say how long a time it may take," Burr replied. "I promise you that my daughter shall have a personal interview with Captain Lewis before he starts for the west."

"But he starts at dawn," smiled Minister Merry.

"Were it an hour earlier than that I would promise it. But now, gentlemen, let us come to the main point. If we succeed, what then?"

"The British minister was business-like and definite.

"Fifty thousand dollars at once out of a special fund in my control. Mean-

"My daughter shall have a personal interview with Captain Lewis."

time I would write at once to my government and lay the matter before them. We shall need a fleet at the mouth of the Mississippi river. That will cost money. It will require at least half a million dollars to assure any sort of success in plans so large as yours, Mr. Burr. But on the contingency that she stops him I promise you that amount—$50,000 down, a half million more when needed."

"The dark eye of Aaron Burr flashed. "Then," said he firmly, "success will meet our efforts. I guarantee it. I pledge all my personal fortune, my friends, my family to the last member."

"I am for my country," said Mr. Merry simply. "It is plain to see that Napoleon sought to humble us by ceding that great region to this republic. He meant to build up in the new world another enemy to Great Britain. But if we can thwart him—if at the very start we can divide the forces which might later be allied against us—perhaps we may conquer a wider sphere of possession for ourselves on this rich continent. There is no better colonizing ground in all the world."

"You understand my plan," said Aaron Burr. "Reduced to the least common denominator, Meriwether Lewis and my daughter Theodosia have our fate in their hands."

"The others rose. The hour was past midnight. The secret conference had been a long one.

"He starts tomorrow—is that sure?" asked Merry.

"As the clock," rejoined Burr. "She must see him before the breakfast hour."

"Mr. compliments, Colonel Burr. Good night!"

"Good night, sir," added Yrujo. "It has been a strange day."

"Secrecy, gentlemen, secrecy! I hope soon to have more news for you, and good news too. Au revoir!"

Burr himself accompanied them to the door.

One instant Aaron Burr sat, his head dropped, revolving his plans. The next he pulled the bell cord and paced the floor until he had answer.

"Go at once to Mrs. Alston's rooms, Charles," he said to the servant. "Tell her to rise and come to me at once. Tell her not to wait. Do you hear?"

He still paced the floor until he heard a light foot from in the hall, a light knock at the door. His daughter entered, her eyes still full of sleep, her attire no more than a loose peignoir caught up and thrown above her night garments.

"What is it, father—are you ill?"

"Far from it, my child," said he turning, with head erect. "I am alive, well and happier than I have been for months—years. I need you—come, sit here and listen to me."

He caught her to him with a swift, paternal embrace—he loved no mortal being as he did his daughter—then pushed her tenderly into the deep seat near by the lamp, while he continued pacing up and down the room, voluble and persuasive, full of his great idea.

The matters which he had but now discussed with the two foreign officials he placed before his daughter. He told her all—except the truth. And Aaron Burr knew how to gild falsehood itself until it seemed the truth.

"Now you have it, my dear," said he. "You see, my ambition to found a country of my own, where a man may have a real ambition. This dirty village here is too narrow a field for talents like yours or mine. Let me tell you, Napoleon has played a great trick with Mr. Jefferson. There is nothing in the constitution of the United States—I am lawier enough to know that—which will make it possible for congress to ratify the purchase of Louisiana. We cannot carve new states from that country—it is already settled by the subjects of another government. Hence the expedition of Mr. Lewis must fail—it must surely fail of its own weight. It is based upon an absurdity. Not even Mr. Jefferson can fly in the face of the supreme laws of the land."

LABOR LEADER LAWSON GOES BACK TO MINING COAL

Denver, April 15.—John R. Lawson, the labor leader who was convicted of murder in connection with the Ludlow massacre a while back, today gave up his place as a leader, donned overalls, fixed a miner's lamp to his cap, shouldered his tools and went down into a little mine in the Fredericksburg district to earn his living once more digging coal.

Lawson came up from the ranks. He was a member of the international council of the United Mine Workers. He turned down a soft job with the union when his term expired the other day and went to work.

NORTHERN WISCONSIN BEST SHEEP-RAISING TRACT IN WORLD

Milwaukee, April 15.—Northern Wisconsin is one of the best sheep-raising countries in the world. This was the declaration of James A. Jeffrey, land commissioner, of Duluth, today, who has recently ended a trip through the country.

There is grass and clover land through the northern counties in Wisconsin, he declared, with which no other district in the country will compare. It is considered far better than grass lands in Montana and even the sunny valleys of California.

Sheep raising is considered one of the most profitable industries of today.

CARDS CLOSE SEASON WITH 27-17 VICTORY

PILE UP GREAT SCORE ON STAR WISCONSIN QUINTET AFTER BEING BEATEN IN OPENING HALF.

HERCULES IS MISSED

Editor on Baseball Trip and His Absence Is Sorely Felt.—Dalton Plays Forward for Reserves

Victory crowned the Cardinals' home Saturday and in their final game of the season they whaled the Stars 27 to 17. The certain contest was a good one with the Cards trailing 13 to 16 at the end of half time. In the second period the reserves collected two full baskets while the Cards were making two seven-pointers.

Herbert Keller was not in the lineup and it was mainly his absence which resulted in the defeat of the victors. Keller was on a basketball tour with the Cards team and could not get here Saturday night. As the result Dalton was used as a reserve forward in Keller's place.

During the first period the visitors played superior ball and their new defense, framed especially for the evening, successfully held the Cards until near the close of the half. Then came the big score, getting five baskets. But that was all the Cards got for the rest of the game, as Dalton kept him far away from the basket after half time.

Headlining rang three in a row as an opener, while A. Wood and Knapp were scoring ones. Chandler, however, missed one from the river bank to River street for a count of two more and by this time the Cards trailed 11 to 16, and before his fifth basket of the half, Floden was being out-played and could not keep track of the variety center. Floden, in fact, raised the count to ten with a clever shot at the basket, a tremendous floorwork on his part, and Keller, at 13 to 19 the time was in.

After half time and in fact throughout the game, Mitchell and Myers were outplayed in a fast battle. Myers pulled a lot of down shots but failed to make a shot enough to make a successful shot. He was tossing them over long distances throughout, as was the Cards team for the greater share of the opening half. Few shots connected. Had they, the reserves would have been hopelessly beaten before the half closed. As it was, a scanty number of the attempts were successful.

The second half was different. The Cards smashed the visitors' strong defense and consistently penetrated for short shots which went true. The scoring was centered around Mike Mitchell and Mike Knapp. The two Mitchell worked together like a cupola barn. When the opponents devised a scheme to trip the center of one, the Cards just switched their play to the other guard, and a basket was generally scored before the reserves could change their defense accordingly. Thus the Cards could change back to the previous style of advance and in this way the conference players were bewildered for the greater share of the closing stages.

Floden cut across with a couple of points in this half and also tossed a field goal, the only one of nine attempts given the Cards. Eddie A. Wood threw a pair of ringers in the opening half and in the second he got a trio, raising his total to five for the game. Olson had a job keeping track of Eddie. Floden played all around Chandler, who scored seven points. Mike held the tall boy to a single basket and came across with half a dozen himself.

The apparent ease with which the Cards drew away in the second half was the big surprise. They had scored ten more points and raised their total to twenty before Chandler scored his only basket, which placed the reserves five points to the rear. A moment later Olson got his only score. Then the Cardinal scoring machine began to work and from a 29 to 17 score they moved away with lightning rapidity and scored seven more points while they held the reserves without a single field or free throw.

Mitchell got his only field basket in three games when he batted the ball to as he followed up another man's shot which went wild and hit the bounding board. As it came back Mitchell jumped into the air and swung the ball new backwards through the rings.

Mevers, for the third time in as many games, Mitchell, scoreless as in the first game, was the star. There is no doubt but what Paulie is the finest player ever seen on a Janesville floor. He excels any player who ever appeared here in guarding and cleverness in advancing the ball.

MORRIS MILLER

When the baseball players of the eight American league clubs lined up in the opening games of the season, the fans in the various cities saw a few familiar faces. For the most part it was a case of starting the 1917 race just as the teams were made up at the end of the 1916 campaign. Only one change has been made in the directing hand of a club, Jack Barry taking up the reins, and in the rank and file of players the changes are unusually few. Not in several years have the managers stuck so closely to previous line-ups as they are sticking this spring.

Here and there a youngster has shown enough talent at the southern training camp to be regarded as a future star on the squad, but these figures are not crowding many of the regulars out of their positions. In most cases the newcomers are pitchers. Players of other positions who have broken in this season are mainly substitutes.

Jack Barry, at the head of the two world's champions, has seen nothing in the spring work of the Red Sox players to justify the benching of any of the infielders or outfielders who did so much last season. He is bringing the pennant and world's championship to Boston. This team is going fast and has reached the stage where it may crack over the past have cracked, but it was a club of veterans which Barry introduced to New York fans at the Polo ground. There was a familiar face in every position—battery, infield and outfield.

Bill Donovan is satisfied that the team which held the lead throughout last season, but which badly crumbled early in the year, is good enough to make the fight this year, so he is practically standing pat. The only change made to date is the substitution of Gideon for Gadeon at second base in the hope that Misset's great base running skill might be utilized. Every other position in the Yankees lineup is filled by a player who has been a regular last year. In fact only one player not with the Yankees last season has been added to the club this spring, and he is utility pitcher whose status is not positively settled as yet.

Clark Griffith opened against the Athletics without any marked changes in his line-up. For a time it was predicted that Sam Rice, an old player with the Baltimore Internationals, would crowd the veteran George McBride into the substitute ranks, but the opening of the season finds McBride on the job and Rice on the bench. Griffith has been giving Sam Rice a fling at first base, but he cannot be classed as a newcomer, as he did considerable work for the Senators last season. For the outfield Allan, Smith and Shanks have the call. Some new pitchers adorn the Washington roster, but all of Griffith's leading horses are again on duty and no changes are likely behind the bat.

Connie Mack is making more changes than in any other league, and he is making only three shifts. Bodie and Thrasher in the outfield and Bates at third are newcomers in Athletic uniforms, but all the other infield and outfield positions and the battery places are held by 1916 regulars. Lajoie had been supplanted at second base some time before the season closed.

Changes are planned at first base and shortstop by Manager Rowland of the White Sox, but it is no certainty that Ribberg, picked to fill the vacancy, will be used. Buck Weaver, moved over to third base, will prove a fixture. If not Rowland is prepared to fall back upon Terry Mullen to help Weaver on his position. The infield, Gandil looks like a fixture as long as his disjuncted knee behaves, as the Sox had no capable first baseman last season. The Chicago outfield will not differ from that of 1916.

JOHNSTOWN NAMES MEN FOR COUNTY DEFENSE COUNCIL ENDORSES 'WHEAT PLAN'

Johnstown, April 16.—Over sixty residents of this community gathered Saturday night at the call of County Supervisor George W. Hall to elect representatives for the organization meeting of the County Defense Council to be held in Janesville next Friday night. Mr. Hall addressed the meeting, telling what the Defense Council hoped to do, and where it could cooperate with the state counties and similar bodies in other localities. Mr. Hall also urged the farmers to hold in the preparations for war by planting an acre or more of wheat, as urged in the Gazette. The meeting was an exceptionally

TROUT SEASON ON; OUR STATE MECCA

Greetings, King Trout! This was the jovial salutation of Wisconsin disciples of Isaac Walton today who doubtless awoke dreaming of the last one—that got away! "Yap," the piscatorial battalions are ready for the spring drive. The 1917 fishing season opened Sunday, and in most sections of the state will continue until Aug. 31. Exceptions are in Bayfield, Douglas, Ashland and Iron counties—in the northernmost section—where the season is from May 1 to Sept. 1, and in Sheboygan, Fond du Lac and Manitowish counties, where it extends from April 15 to Aug. 1. The season as to trout includes all varieties save lake trout which may be fished throughout the year except in Lake Superior where the season is from Oct. 15 to the following Sept. 15. A fisherman must be satisfied with a catch of forty-five a day and must throw back all trout under seven inches in length. No license is required of the fisherman if he is 16 years old and a resident of the state. A non-resident must have a license to fish in inland waters of the state.

RACINE SWIMMERS ORGANIZE TO HOLD WATER SHOWS

Racine, Wis., April 16.—Swimmers of Racine have launched an aquatic club which will keep things humming this summer. All sorts of water sports will be taken up. It is known as the Y. M. C. A. Aquatic club. Walter Klapproth is manager.

Only two species of trees are common to California and the eastern states. They are the black willow (Salix nigra) and the aspen (Populus tremuloides). Both are widely distributed in the United States.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR EDGERTON MEETING

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, April 16.—Edgerton is to demonstrate its loyalty in a huge patriotic meeting to be held next Thursday evening. The County Defense committee has informed the local enthusiasts that many other cities in the vicinity are also planning such demonstrations. Attorney Hal Martin, James Keller and F. W. Jensen have the local program in charge and speakers will be announced later. Mayor James Conway will preside. Resolutions are being prepared and probably will be introduced by Attorney H. R. Martin. The program committee has been negotiating with the Port Atkinson and Janesville companies of guardmen and one or both will probably enter the loyalty parade on Thursday night. The Edgerton band will furnish music. The speaking program will be held in the Majestic theatre at eight o'clock p. m., preceded by the big parade in which practically all social and patriotic organizations of the city will participate. Masons, Knights of Pythias, T. A. and B. society, Piemen, W. R. C. G. A. R. Ladies' Federation of Clubs, school children and all other patriotic citizens are planning on taking part in the parade.

The schedule for the high school baseball team has been arranged and the first game will be played with Cambridge, Saturday, April 21st, at Cambridge. On Friday, April 27, Waterloo at Waterloo, and Saturday, April 28th, Marshall at Marshall. A league has been formed which embraces six high schools of this section and the first game of this league will be played May 1st with Stoughton, at Edgerton; May 4th, Milton high, here; May 19th, Whitewater high at Edgerton; May 25th, Walworth at Walworth. The team, under the coaching of Prof. Dexter, is fast working into line and a good team is promised. The players have not as yet been assigned their positions on the team as there is a large field to choose from, and probably the line-up will not be announced until just before the game with Cambridge.

Miss Nora Farman and Miss Eleanor Hitchcock were Sunday visitors at Stoughton. Lamont Girard of Madison spent Sunday at the home of his mother on Washington street.

Henry Ford and Frank Boss were Sunday visitors at the home of M. H. Ford in the city.

Mrs. F. M. Jack was taken to a hospital at Chicago this morning where she will receive treatments. She is suffering with leakage of the heart, and her condition is serious. She was accompanied by Dr. McChesney, her sister, Mrs. Birkenmeyer, and mother, Mrs. Kelley.

Dave Miller of Sullivan, Ind., spent the week end with his brother, J. S. Miller at the W. T. Pomeroy home in the city. He departed for Montana points last evening.

The steaming of tobacco beds is now in full swing. Practically all of the traction engines available are being pressed into use.

Harry Hutson successfully underwent an operation at the General Hospital for Aneurysm Saturday. Yesterday, S. Fringle and Mrs. Hutson went to Madison and spent the day with him.

Mrs. Lucy Pringle and Miss Amanda Handika went to Janesville this morning and will spend several days with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Myers are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl.

W. B. Doty is representative for the Gazette. Orders for display and classified advertising and subscriptions will receive careful attention. Phone 300 or 174.

English Bottoms Measure Falls; New Plan Used

London, April 16.—The scheme for the limitation of freights to France and Italy which was planned to attract increased tonnage for the transportation of coal from England, has failed to bring into the service the required number of steamers at the fixed rates and in compliance with requests from ship brokers the authorities have agreed to make the plan more elastic. The schedule rates of freights can now be adjusted in order to attract more neutral tonnage.

JAP DIET MEMBER FINED FOR HIS WRITINGS

Tokio, April 16.—Daikeichiro Tagawa, a former member of the Diet and a derisive secretary of state, has been sentenced to five months imprisonment for publishing an article regarded as reflecting on the dignity of the imperial house. The article elaborated upon the activity of the emperor's men in connection with their recommendation to the emperor to appoint Count Terauchi premier in succession to Marquis Okuma.

The editor of several other magazines which reproduced the article were convicted and sentenced, or fined.

Trick Pseudo Dumb Seeking War Discharge

Rome, March 16.—Because there have been in this war a number of genuine cases of men who have been struck deaf and dumb by gun shock it has become a favorite form of malingerer by men who wish to avoid the risk of the firing line or particularly desire to be sent home. They act as though they could hear absolutely nothing. Neither a cannonade nor the voices of their mothers who are sometimes brought to see them can they apparently hear. Under these circumstances a shrewd army doctor has discovered that the sound of the dropping of a coin immediately behind them almost invariably makes them turn.

Nervous Children. In seeking a remedy for nervous and delicate children very often you will find that it is sleep and not drugs that is needed.

In a sense sleep is really more important than food. The sick often survive on very little to eat, and the results from medicine are not always successful, but sleep is what is depended upon to regain health and strength.

Sleep is the secret of protracted youth. There is nothing more beneficial to health or that can compare in value to natural and refreshing sleep.

'Way in Front for 8 Years

It was in 1909 that Fatimas nosed their way to the front and became the fastest-selling cigarette costing over 10c.

And, except in one or two localities, Fatima's big lead is increasing faster today than ever—in spite of the big sales of cheaper cigarettes, packed to imitate Fatima.

Of course, Fatima's remarkable sales do not make Fatimas taste any better —in fact, no cigarette can just suit every man's personal taste.

But it proves that MOST men find that Fatimas keep their promises—that Fatimas do taste good and are comfortable while you are smoking and that after you smoke they leave you feeling just as fine as before.

Yes, Fatimas are sensible—and some day you'll become a Fatima smoker.
